

- Q. If so, where and what were you doing?
- A. Mr. Stevens and I went on the Bay in his power boat, using a cast net to catch mullett for bait.
- Q. What did you do after dinner? Were you with Mr. Stevens? For how long a time?
- A. Went fishing on the beach with Mr. Stevens from about 1.30 until about 3 o'clock.
- Q. What happened? Did you see anyone deliver a telegram to Mr. Stevens?
- A. We were fishing on the beach, north of Mr. Stevens' house, when he was called to the boardwalk by a messenger, who gave him a telegram.
- Q. About what time of day was this and what was he doing then?
- A. About 3 o'clock - he was fishing with me.
- Q. How close were you to him?
- A. About 5 feet.
- Q. When he received the telegram, did he say anything to you? If so, what?
- A. Yes. He said, "Oh, Bill, Edwin Hall has been killed." I asked him how and he said, "I don't know, maybe an automobile accident."
- Q. Was he flustered, excited, disturbed or quiet and placid?
- A. Seemed grieved.
- Q. Did he leave the beach? If so, how soon after receiving the telegram?
- A. Yes, right away.
- Q. Did he walk quietly and leisurely, or did he run? If so, where did he run?
- A. He hurried and practically ran towards his home, as I told him I would gather his things and bring them along.
- Q. Did you return to the house with him?
- A. I followed right away, after gathering up his tackle.
- Q. What conversation did he have with you?
- A. We talked about the possibility of getting a train, and found he would be able to catch an afternoon train to New Brunswick if he hurried.
- Q. Did he tell you where he was going?
- A. Yes, he said he was going to New Brunswick.
- Q. How long was he occupied in preparing to go?
- A. Long enough to pack his grip and change his clothes.
- Q. Did he make any arrangements with you as to whether you were to occupy his house that night?
- A. Yes. He said as he had to leave hurriedly and there was no one at home, would I spend the night at his house. I spent several nights there alone, until Mrs. & Miss Griffin returned.
- Q. Have you ever seen Mr. Stevens drive an automobile? If so, what make of an automobile was it?
- A. Yes - a Ford.
- Q. Was it his Ford station wagon?
- A. Yes.
- Q. Did you ever see him drive any other automobile?
- A. No.
